Australian Wool Industry Medal 2021 Recipient

Mr Ken Stock

Ken Stock is well known in the wool industry as an exporter for over 50 years. He spent some time with Fox & Lillie and later went into partnership with Graeme Kellet and John Allen.

He runs this own business Stockwool trading scoured and carbonised wool.

Over the years he became good friends with Michael Manion. Michael was known for his willingness to provide support and share his knowledge with younger members of the trade. Unfortunately, Michael passed away in July 2014.

Michael's passing inspired his colleagues to form the Michael Manion Wool Industry Foundation in 2015 as an ongoing legacy of the man he was supporting the greater wool and agricultural industry.

He is a very proud Chairman of the Michael Manion Wool Industry Foundation. The Foundation has run many fundraising events and funds go back to supporting rural families in need.
